

As a Community Development Financial Institution (CDFI) and community food hub, EatsPlace facilitates food-based, community entrepreneurship for a robust economy to increase food security and health in our neighborhoods.

EatsPlace collaborates across the value chain to support local food entrepreneurs from idea to execution.

How can we help you?

We provide technical assistance with:

- Business planning and marketing;
- Business and regulatory assistance (including licensing and permitting, professional certification and inspections, and production and manufacturing);
- Strategy consulting that focuses on operations, staffing, procurement, management, logistics and growth; and
- Skills acquisition courses to help businesses more efficiently operate, including managing finances, payroll systems, inventory management, human resources, etc.

Commercial Kitchen & Pop-Ups

We provide a commercial kitchen with a working restaurant and bar lab. In addition to kitchen rentals and restaurant pop-ups at our location, we also offer food facility design and operations services.

Next Steps

To access our technical assistance, including kitchen and pop-up space, please complete an application at eatsplace.com/apply.